Letter from the President

SEVENTY-THREE CITIES, ONE INVITATION TO MOVE

The American Week of Sport is when the continent's cities show what they do the rest of the year: they open their streets, courts, parks and pools to everyone.

In 2026, 73 cities and territories in 14 countries organised 1,521 events and activities between 1 September and 15 October. They drew 9,290,368 participants, plus 5,753,628 in Bogotá's recreational Ciclovías.

Behind those figures are schools, clubs, volunteers and institutions: Bogotá's Ciclovía, which every Sunday hands its avenues to anyone who wants to walk, cycle or skate; Student Day in Vicente López; the softball trials in Tlaxcala; the restored pitch in Guasmo Oeste, Guayaquil. Each city has its own pages here, with its programme, its people and its images.

This is not a ranking. A town that fills its square is as much a part of this story as a capital with hundreds of events.

This year we are also thinking of Colombia. The 10 August earthquake hit Cali, Valle del Cauca, Pereira and other Colombian cities. Cali and Valle devoted all their strength to their people; their place in this week is waiting for them.

Thank you to León, which hosted the official launch in its 450th anniversary year, and to the ACES America team, led by its president, Adriana Sánchez Parés, for their excellent work and dedication. Thank you to every city that took part. See you in September 2027.

Who we are

SPORT AS CITY POLICY

Since 1999, ACES has recognised cities that make sport a tool for health, inclusion and development. In the Americas, that network has become a movement: the American Week of Sport.

ACES EDITORIAL TEAM

ACES was born in Europe in 1999 with an idea both simple and ambitious: that sport should not be a privilege for the few but a right within everyone's reach, especially children, older people, people with disabilities and the most vulnerable groups. To achieve this, ACES works with those whose tools are closest to people: local governments.

Every year, ACES awards the titles of Capital, Region, City, Community and Town of Sport to territories that show an evaluation committee that sport is part of their public policy. The titles are presented at an annual gala in an institutional venue, such as the European Parliament or UNESCO.

THE LEAP TO THE AMERICAS

In 2019, Santiago de Cali (Colombia) became the first American Capital of Sport, and in 2020 Guadalajara (Mexico) was the first city on the continent named World Capital of Sport. Since then, the ACES network in the Americas has kept growing. In 2026, Guayaquil (Ecuador) holds the title of American Capital of Sport. In 2027, Zapopan (Mexico), American Capital of Sport, and Buenos Aires (Argentina), World Capital of Sport, will take over.

"Sport is not an expense: it is an investment with social and economic returns"

ACES holds that sport should be state policy: a tool for integration and social change, a driver of economic development and an investment in health. In that spirit it works with UNESCO, the American Sports Council and the other institutions that support the network, in line with the Kazan Action Plan.

ONE NETWORK, TWO CONTINENTS

ACES is a single network, present in Europe and the Americas. In September, both continents move at once: the European Week of Sport and the American Week of Sport share the same idea, opening sport up to everyone, and the same tool to count it, ACES Activa.

One week. A whole year.

THE WEEK THAT MOVES A CONTINENT

From 1 September to 15 October, ACES cities in the Americas open their streets, parks, courts and pools. In four editions, participation has more than quadrupled, excluding Bogotá's ciclovías.

The American Week of Sport was born in 2023 as the Americas' answer to the European Week of Sport. The idea is the same: for a few weeks, each city shows everything it does for its people's physical activity — fun runs, ciclovías, school tournaments, classes in parks, adapted sport, programmes for older adults— and adds it to a continental effort.

The campaign runs from 1 September to 15 October, with a highlight week from 23 to 30 September that coincides with the European Week of Sport. Any administration can take part: it only has to register its events and activities on ACES Activa, where each record adds to the figures of its city, its country and the continent.

FOUR EDITIONS

In 2023, 40 cities in 13 countries took part. In 2024 there were 62; in 2025, 91 cities in 14 countries, with the record set by Valle del Cauca, which contributed 42 municipalities. In 2026, without Valle del Cauca, which had to respond to the earthquake emergency, 73 cities and territories in 14 countries drew more than nine million participants, plus another 5.7 million in Bogotá's recreational Ciclovías.

HOW IT IS COUNTED

The figures in this guide come from the records each city entered in ACES Activa between 1 September and 15 October 2026. Participants are counted per event: someone who attends several activities counts in each of them, as in any attendance count. Ongoing programmes are included when the city promoted them as part of the American Week of Sport. Where a city reported fewer than 100 participants, the guide shows an estimated participation of 100. Bogotá's Ciclovía is counted by Sundays.

FROM LEÓN, FOR THE WHOLE CONTINENT

In its 450th anniversary year, León hosted the official launch of the American Week of Sport 2026, as part of the León 450 International Sport Forum, from 17 to 20 September.

ACES EDITORIAL TEAM

The American Week of Sport 2026 made its debut in León, Guanajuato. Adriana Sánchez Parés, president of ACES in the Americas, and Isaac Piña Valdivia, director general of the Municipal Commission for Physical Culture and Sport (COMUDE León), on behalf of Mayor Alejandra Gutiérrez, officially declared and presented the campaign.

Piña Valdivia described the American Week of Sport as "one of the leading campaigns promoting sport and physical activity in the Americas". Sánchez Parés recalled the 2025 edition: 91 cities in 14 countries, 4,546 activities and more than 8 million participants, plus more than 4 million in Bogotá's recreational ciclovías.

Piña Valdivia stressed that activating more than 8 million participants would not have been possible without the will and commitment of the organisations, and said he hoped that the 58 cities of the Ibero-American Network of Cities for Sport and Development would join the 2026 edition. If they do, he said, "this will surely help us break the records we have set".

SPORT, INCLUSION AND PUBLIC POLICY

The forum brought together Olympic and Paralympic figures. Germán Sánchez, double Olympic diving medallist, spoke about his path to international success, and Paralympic swimmer Ángel Camacho gave his talk "My life experience". Julio Ávila Sarria, president of the Americas Paralympic Committee, presented Paralympic sport as a tool for inclusion, and Juan Carlos Flores Miramontes, Jalisco's Secretary of Education, gave the talk "Education in motion: building character through sport".

Together, the new cities registered 150 events and activities and 148,626 participants. New York joins for the first time and is the only US city in this edition.

For 2027, the challenge is twofold: for the new cities to return and for Valle del Cauca to come back.

STAND STRONG, CALI. STAND STRONG, VALLE. STAND STRONG, PEREIRA.

The 10 August earthquake hit Cali, Valle del Cauca and Pereira. Cali and Valle put their American Week of Sport on hold; Pereira kept going. Their absence and their effort show in every figure in this guide.

ACES EDITORIAL TEAM

On the morning of Monday 10 August, a magnitude 7.4 earthquake with its epicentre in San José del Palmar (Chocó) shook western Colombia. Cali was the worst-hit city. A month later, the Mayor's Office reported 154 people dead, 1,517 injured and more than 12,000 buildings damaged, including 246 public schools and 43 high-performance sports venues.

Sport did not stop: it changed its role. According to the Observatory of Sport, Recreation and Physical Activity (ODRAF) of the Secretariat of Sport and Recreation, the Miguel Calero, Miguel Chávez and Karate Do venues, the CIDES Parque Los Pinos and the Coliseo Metropolitano del Norte took in affected families. Other courts served as collection centres, as a camp for national and international rescuers, or as the base of the Unified Command Post.

Neighbourhood courts became shelters. Sports infrastructure is, above all, social infrastructure.

A KEY CITY FOR THE NETWORK

Cali is not just another city for ACES: it was the first American Capital of Sport, in 2019. In 2025, Valle del Cauca set the record for the American Week of Sport, with 42 municipalities and 2,296 events and activities: half of the whole edition.

On 31 August, Mayor Alejandro Eder announced the gradual reopening of sports venues after technical inspections. The priority was, and still is, the people. That is why Cali and the Valle put their participation on hold this year.

PEREIRA, HIT BUT STANDING

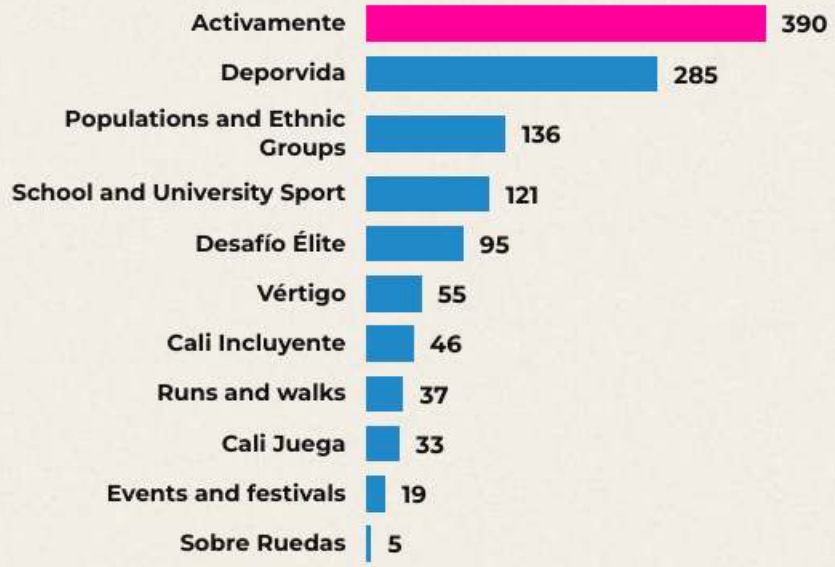

In Pereira, Mayor Mauricio Salazar reported at least 18 deaths on the day itself. Matecaña airport suspended operations and the Hernán Ramírez Villegas stadium was closed for the rest of 2026. Even so, the city kept its programme for the American Week of Sport.

What could not be

WHAT CALI HAD PLANNED

1,222 events and activities between 13 September and 11 October: that was Cali's programme for the American Week of Sport 2026, 13% more than in 2025.

Planned events and activities, by programme

It brought together the major programmes of the Secretariat of Sport and Recreation: Activamente, with physical activity in neighbourhoods and parks; Deporvida, with sports schools for children and young people; Populations and Ethnic Groups; School and University Sport; Cali Incluyente; and athlete preparation in Desafío Élite.

Every Sunday, the Ciclovida was going to take over the streets. And the calendar was to close with a fun run, family festivals, rugby, calisthenics, skating and a great dance party for peace.

The figures

WITHOUT THE VALLE, THE WEEK STILL GROWS

Comparing like with like, that is, the American Week of Sport 2025 and 2026, both without Valle del Cauca or Cali, the network keeps growing. And with Cali, the edition would have passed ten and a half million participants, excluding Bogotá's ciclovías.

SAD 2025 and SAD 2026, without Valle del Cauca

Participants excluding Bogotá's recreational Ciclovías (2025: 4,115,528; 2026: 5,753,628). 2025: 91 cities, 4,546 events and 8,170,825 participants, minus the 42 Valle del Cauca municipalities (2,296 events, 1,352,749 participants). 2026: closed 16 October.

With 24 more cities than the previous edition without Valle, the American Week of Sport 2026 gained presence across the continent and added 2,472,292 more participants. Fewer events were registered, but their quality and attendance rose markedly: the average went from 3,000 to 6,100 participants per event, in a stronger programme. In addition, in 2026 each ongoing programme counts as a single activity, even if it runs sessions throughout the campaign.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN

Cali had planned 1,222 events and activities, 13% more than in 2025. Applying the same growth to its participation and to the rest of Valle del Cauca, the edition would have added some 1,527,781 participants, reaching 4,114 events and activities and 115 cities.

2026 participants with Cali and Valle del Cauca (projection, excluding Bogotá's ciclovías)

10,818,149

SAD 2026 registered: 9,290,368 Cali (estimated): 806,319 rest of the Valle (estimated): 721,462

Projection: planned growth of Cali's programme (1,222 records in 2026 against 1,082 in 2025, ×1,129) applied to Cali's 2025 participants (713,942) and to the events and participants of the rest of Valle del Cauca in 2025. This is an estimate, not registered data.

> The whole ACES network stands with Colombia. Thank you, Cali and Valle del Cauca, for your commitment. Your place in the American Week of Sport awaits you in 2027.

STAND STRONG, COLOMBIA

Colombia · Bogotá

The impact of the Ciclovía

The Sunday and Holiday Ciclovía is a day of recreation and physical activity held on Sundays and holidays in Bogotá, with roads temporarily closed to motor traffic. During the American Week of Sport 2026, three days were registered, each one bigger than the last.

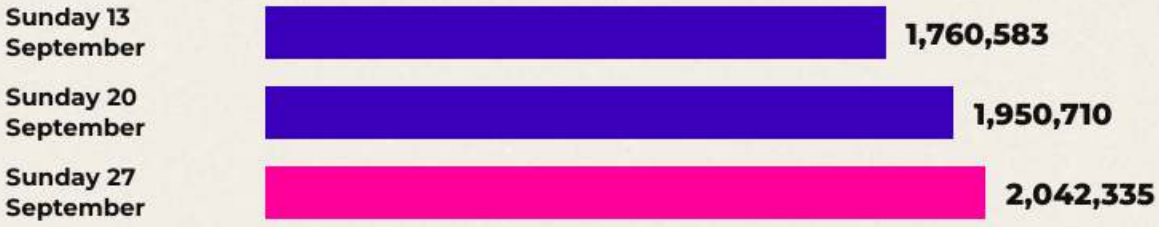

5,753,628
participants on three days

THE PARTNERS BEHIND THE WEEK

Organised by ACES, together with the cities and territories that open their streets, courts, parks and pools to everyone each year. These institutions support the American Week of Sport and give it continental reach.

UNESCO and Fit for Life

UNESCO promotes sport as a driver of inclusion, health and peace, and guides public policy through the Kazan Action Plan.

Fit for Life is its flagship initiative: it uses sport to tackle physical inactivity, improve mental health and strengthen social cohesion. It is the framework for the city networks taking part in the American Week of Sport.

Ibero-American Network of Cities for Sport and Development

A voluntary association of local governments in Latin America and Spain that puts sport at the heart of public policy, with the backing of UNESCO. It was founded in León in July 2023, when 16 cities from eight countries signed the "León 2023 Commitment". In 2026, with six Spanish cities on board, it became Ibero-American; today it brings together 58 cities.

It works on five priorities: social inclusion through sport, physical and mental wellbeing, gender equity, measuring the impact of sport and the social return on investment in sport. Alongside UNESCO, it is supported by the OAS, UCLG, GIZ, Mercociudades and ACES.

Every year it drives two major moments of activation: April, the International Month of Physical Activity and Sport, which in 2026 brought together more than two million participants in 61 cities, and September, the American Week of Sport. León chairs the network: its president, Isaac Piña Valdivia, led the launch of the 2026 edition in León.

Americas Paralympic Committee

The regional organisation of the Paralympic movement, bringing together the national Paralympic committees of the Americas and organising the Parapan American Games. Its president, Julio Ávila Sarria, presented Paralympic sport as a tool for inclusion in León.

American Sports Council

An intergovernmental body bringing together the sports ministers and top sports authorities of the countries and territories of the Americas to coordinate the continent's sports policy. It works with ACES to promote sport through institutions.

PARTNERS

Organization of American States

The hemisphere's main political forum, bringing together the 35 independent states of the Americas under the motto "More rights for more people".

Its support places the American Week of Sport on the continental agenda of development, inclusion and coexistence, and it attended the launch in León.

Recreational Ciclovías of the Americas Network

It brings together the programmes that close streets to motor traffic every Sunday and holiday so that people can walk, cycle, skate and play.

From Bogotá to Guadalajara, from Santiago to Morelia, recreational ciclovías are the continent's biggest gateway to physical activity: in 2026, Bogotá's alone drew 5,753,628 participants on three days.

Ibero-American Union of Municipalists

An organisation devoted to training, cooperation and the exchange of experience between local governments in Ibero-America. It brings the American Week of Sport to mayors, technical staff and municipal officials across the continent.

PARTNERS

Latin American Sports Tourism Network

A network of cities and destinations that promote sport as a driver of tourism and local development. Its members share events, knowledge and strategies to attract visitors through sport.

International School Sport Day

An initiative of the International School Sport Federation, the IOC-recognised world body for school sport, inviting schools to devote a day to sport and physical activity as an educational tool.

MEDIA PARTNER

AS México

The Mexican edition of the sports daily AS. As media partner, it brings the American Week of Sport to its readers and gives visibility to the cities and their sport-for-all programmes.

ACTIVATE AMERICA
AMERICAN WEEK OF SPORT

On social media: #ActivateAmerica

Cities, partners and ACES shared the campaign under one hashtag, with common materials for each phase: the launch, the central week of 23–30 September and the close with the results.

What the network set in motion

- A digital campaign kit, with logos and materials for the cities.
- ACES Activa: event registration and a map of the continent, in five languages.
- Presentation of the campaign to sports ministers at the Asunción Sport Summit in May.
- A participation certificate for every city.
- A results infographic in four languages and a report for partners and cities in five.
- This guide, in Spanish and English.

The American Week of Sport team in León

Acknowledgements

THANK YOU ALL FOR MAKING IT HAPPEN!

Behind every activity, every city that joined and every story that moved us, there are people who deeply believe in the power of sport to transform lives. The American Week of Sport 2026 is much more than a continental celebration: it is the result of shared dreams, commitment, effort and great teamwork.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

ACES AMERICA

Our special thanks go to Adriana Sánchez Parés, President of ACES America, and to Gonzalo Cuesta, General Coordinator, for their leadership, vision and commitment to taking this initiative further every year. To Lilian Morua, Daniela Mata, Daniela Hernández, Alessio Di Maio and Javier Liñero, thank you for your dedication and for every effort, often unseen, that turns ideas into reality.

Very special recognition goes to COMUDE León, led by Isaac Piña, and to Mayor Alejandra Gutiérrez, for opening the doors of their city, believing in this initiative and helping sport once again become a meeting point for the Americas.

To our partners, cities, institutions and everyone who was part of this edition: thank you for bringing your enthusiasm, sharing your experiences and showing that great transformations are built when we work together.

Because behind every result there is a story, behind every city there is a community, and behind every achievement there are people who never stop believing.

Today we close an edition, but we keep building a dream that knows no borders. Because together we are unstoppable, and because sport has that wonderful ability to unite us, inspire us and remind us that we can always go further.

THANK YOU FOR BEING PART OF THIS STORY!

We keep growing, we keep adding up and we keep activating the Americas through sport.
